THE BRIDGE ESTIMATE.

The news received by telegraph on Tuesday last, that a sum of $25,000 was contained in the supplementary estimates for a bridge at Edmonton both pleasing and disappointing. Pleasing because the fact that any sum is to be specifically voted by parliament for a bridge here commits the government and the party supporting it to the bridge project. If this vote does not pledge the government to a bridge at Edmonton it is because the government is only juggling with the powers which are committed to its care; a charge too serious to be made without ample justification, and for which up to the present time there is no justification. The disappointment lies in the fact that the amount voted is not sufficient to complete the bridge according to the reported estimates of the engineers; their estimate being about $60,000. Another cause for disappointment is that the government evidently intends to place a part of the burden of the cost of this most necessary public work in the Northwest upon the municipality of the town of Edmonton. In regard to the first point it may be that it is intended to undertake a cheaper bridge than was at first proposed. This would be doubtful economy. The Saskatchewan is a mountain river and although one of the best natured streams in the world during the greater part of the time, it has moods that must be taken account of in building a bridge. Another point in this connection is that with the railway terminus on the opposite side of the river from the town, a bridge that will carry at least electric cars is absolutely essential, if not one that will bear ordinary railway traffic. As to the matter of the town paying a portion of the cost of the bridge, it does not appear to the BULLETIN that the town should be called upon to do so. The demand that it shall do so, is too much like the action of ordinary railway bonus hunters, who use their charter as the highwayman uses his pistol,—to make those who have something of value stand and deliver it to them. Although the town of Edmonton has taken such an active part in trying to secure this bridge, and although it may be freely admitted that a sufficiently strong bridge would be of very great advantage to the town as a town, the government could scarcely afford to build the bridge or pay any part towards the cost of a bridge, if that were the only reason for its existence. The bridge is a public necessity, by reason of circumstances apart altogether from the existence of the town, and because a thriving town happens to be located at the particular point at which public necessity demands the erection of a bridge is surely not a sufficient reason why the town should contribute more than its ordinary share towards the construction of that public work.

In any case, however, the government has put itself on record as believing in the necessity of a bridge at Edmonton, and no doubt the amount has already been voted by parliament. This puts the matter now upon a definite footing. Although it is not the bridge it is the very longest step that has yet been taken towards the bridge. Edmonton has both before and since its incorporation spent a great deal of money and energy in pushing this bridge matter, and no doubt a continuance of that energy and push will secure the bridge. In advocating the sending of the latest delegation to Ottawa on this subject the BULLETIN believes that it did what has turned out to be the very best that could have been done under the circumstances, as shown by the result. It also believes that no mistake was made by the ratepayers and council of Edmonton in the selection of the delegates; who must be considered to have been directly instrumental in securing the advancement of the bridge question to its present stage.

TUBERCULOSIS IN PEACE RIVER.

It is now nearly two years since the report that tuberculosis existed amongst a band of imported cattle in the Peace river district, came to the ears of the authorities at Ottawa. It is over a year since a promise was said to have been made by the department of agriculture to send out a qualified veterinary to look into the matter and take such action as might be necessary to effectually stamp out the disease and thereby remove the danger to which the rest of the cattle of that region are exposed from the existence of the supposed infection. No such action has been taken and it is high time to enquire why it has not been. The facts are familiar to many readers of the BULLETIN, but it may be well to state them again shortly. Some years ago the Hudson's Bay Company imported some very fine thoroughbred cattle to that region. Not long after the arrival of the thoroughbreds, one of them showed symptoms of disease and finally died. Others have since died and the symptoms as described are those of tuberculosis, a highly infectious and infallibly fatal disease, which under certain circumstances, may be communicated to human beings. The existence of this disease caused alarm amongst the few people who are raising cattle there, and considerable agitation resulted. Since then the cattle have been kept isolated from other bands and it is not publicly known what progress the disease is making amongst them, although reports are heard from time to time as to one or more of them being killed and burned. As long as this isolation is strictly preserved, of course other cattle stand in no danger, but there are reports that the isolation is to cease partly or altogether shortly. Before this is allowed there should certainly be an inspection by a thoroughly qualified veterinary, or the rest of the owners of cattle in the district will have grave cause of complaint against the government, which has specifically legislated regarding cattle diseases in the Northwest, if they do not give effect by proper executive action to the legislation that has been passed.

WINNIPEG is a great city. It is great in many ways and one of these ways is its newspapers. It is safe to say that no city of its size in the world has three as good daily papers. They are newspapers in the large and complete sense of the word. They cover the ground thoroughly and well. But in the field of news there is necessarily a certain sameness in them. The report of a dog fight or the arrest and sentence of a plain drunk reads about the same in one as in the others. It is in the editorial field—the realm of imagination which has no boundaries—that they find room to display their differences, and to justify their separate existences. The Free Press—the oldest the most newsy and having the heaviest backing—is straight liberal in Dominion politics, straight Greenway in local politics, and straight C. P. R. in business matters. The Tribune is the product of the business and journalistic enterprise of one man, R. L. Richardson, and although its cash reserve may be slight it still has a great fund of energy, originality, and pluck in its manager, which may pull it through. The Tribune opposes separate schools in local politics, opposes protection in the Dominion and opposes railway monopoly. The Nor'Wester is the result of the attempt made by the C. P. R. Company to destroy W. F. Luxton, by ousting him from the control of the Free Press, coupled with Mr. Luxton's own energy and ability, the necessity that was generally felt of having a Northwest paper that would fight railway monopoly first, last and all the time. The Nor'Wester fulfils that requirement to perfection, and while doing so gives a moderate support to the Dominion government, but decries the principle of protection; supports the separate school cause in Manitoba, and attacks the Greenway government and Winnipeg's liberal representative in the house of commons in the most malignant style. No doubt the success of so many papers in so comparatively small a place is due to the fact that the ordinary citizen has to take all three in order to see his views on public questions expressed to his liking.

RATEPAYERS' MEETING.

The council chamber was well filled on Saturday evening last by ratepayers anxious to discuss and to hear discussed—as per notice—the action of the board of school trustees in the selection of a new school site and also the question of the proposed opening of new streets to the lower ferry. A number of nominations for the position of chairman were made, but were declined for various reasons. The position was finally accepted by S. S. Taylor. A. M. Campbell was elected secretary.

The question of the school site was first discussed, and the following resolution was moved by Geo P. Sanderson, seconded by Thos. Bellamy.

"That this meeting has heard with regret that the school trustees have selected a new school site on the southwest corner of Clara and McDougall streets, as they consider that there is no need of a central school, but of a ward school to accommodate the children of the east end and we request the trustees to reconsider their decision and choose a site east of Fraser avenue."

Messrs. G. P. Sanderson, Thos. Bellamy, Jos. Brunelle and W. Humberstone, spoke in support of the motion, contending that for the purposes of a school to accommodate principally the eastern end of the town, the site chosen was too far west.

M. McCauley chairman of the school board defended the action of the board by producing figures as to school attendance in order to prove that west and east of Fraser avenue was the centre of the school population that would be accommodated by the proposed school. Also that the location and proposed building would be suitable for a central school in the future and for use as a normal school as well.

J. A. McDougall of the school board said that he believed the site selected to be central for the purposes required, and supported the particular site chosen because he believed that it was the best value offered for the money. He would not have supported the erection of such an expensive school as that proposed if it had only been intended for a ward school.

Jas. McDonald of the school board personally favored a site on Namayo avenue for the proposed ward school; but had voted for the present site as the best of two that the majority of the board appeared to have fixed upon.

The discussion was long, desultory and complicated, making a full report impossible. The chairman in putting the motion stated that it was a motion of want of confidence in the school board. The motion was carried by a vote of 24 to 19. Many of those present however did not vote.

The question of a right of way to the Lower ferry was then taken up and the following resolution was moved by J. C. F. Bown, seconded by D. R. Fraser. "That this meeting disapproves of the decision arrived at by the town council in regard to the opening of McDougall street, and are of opinion that the council should rescind their motion and reconsider the whole matter, and obtain a way more central and eastward of the one selected." In speaking to his motion Mr. Bown pointed out that the street proposed to be opened was not on the route now followed by travel, which turned off Main street at Cameron's store. He understood an offer had been made by the town council to open this as a permanent street.

Geo. Sanderson said that he had recently circulated petitions for the opening of two streets to the river, one by the Cliffe and one by Second street. He did so believing that suitable streets could be made there and also believing that there was a difficulty in securing a central route to the river by way of the present line of travel owing to the fact that Mr. Heiminek as agent for David McDougall was playing "dog" in the matter. He would like Mr. Heiminek to explain his position.

Mr. Heiminek called upon Mayor McCauley to explain the matter in his behalf. Mr. McCauley made certain explanations regarding the attempted opening of McDougall street, the first offer having come from David McDougall through his then agent Mr. S. S. Taylor, which offer had been accepted by the council and afterwards withdrawn by Mr. Heiminek when he became agent for the property.

Mr. Heiminek stated the offer had stood without being agreed to for so long that when he assumed the agency of McDougall's property he considered the offer to have lapsed, and on being approached by the council on the subject he made a new offer which he considered to be more in the interests of Mr. McDougall and the town as well. The offer included the granting of a right of way between Cameron's and Daly's stores, where the principal travel now is, $50 a foot being the price for the frontage on Jasper avenue, some 58 feet. He believed that the council had decided not to accept his offer, but would go on and expropriate to open out McDougall street only. This would pay Mr. McDougall better than if they had taken his offer, but he did not think it would pay the town as well.

Mr. McCauley said that the council were driven to expropriate to extend McDougall street because the Methodist mission had threatened to withdraw their offer of a free right of way across their property if McDougall street was not opened out. He would not object to opening the street between Cameron's and Daly's but he thought the price asked by McDougall was too high. Mr. McDougall should have left a right of way there when he surveyed his property. He did not do so. He still owned 25 feet of the land that would have to be acquired, and if Mr. McDougall would give that land he would be willing that the town should purchase the balance. But he would much rather see Mr. McDougall compelled to provide a right of way for the old trail as he should have done. At present the council were trying to get a road to the river at the least possible expense.

Frank Oliver said that he favored the opening of the street between Cameron's and Daly's because that was the original trail. Value had been given to a great deal of the property of the town by reason of its existence at that point. To allow it to be closed up and the traffic thereby be diverted would injuriously affect the value of that property. For his own property and for that of others which would be affected in that way he asked protection by the keeping open of the present main route of travel to the lower ferry. He did not wish to see the town pay money that it should not pay or to see Mr. McDougall receive money that he was not entitled to, but this was not a mere question of value as between the lot that would make the extension of McDougall street and the lot that would make the extension of Queen street. It was a question of business interest affecting a large part of the business of the town. He could not agree with the motion, however, because he did not object to the opening of McDougall street and therefore could not ask the council to rescind their motion and reconsider the whole matter. All he asked was that interests created by or on account of the existence of a certain street should be protected by the preservation of that street.

After the chairman had called for a vote Mr. Bown asked leave to amend his motion which was refused, and the motion was declared lost. As in the former case a large number of those present did not vote.

The meeting then adjourned.

RIFLE MATCH.
A friendly match between Edmonton and Fort Saskatchewan, took place at the range of the latter on Saturday afternoon. Nine men to a side. The conditions were against high scoring, a troublesome fistful wind upsetting the calculations of the knowing ones. The Fort came off victorious, and seemed well satisfied with this victory, if we may judge by the very hospitable manner in which they entertained the boys at the close of the match at the Mansion House.

GENERAL NEWS.
A colony of German and Russian immigrants is to be planted near Saskatoon.
A shipment of 500 lbs., of Seneca root was made recently from Battleford by Mahaffey & Clinkins. The Herald says that diggers of that root are making $5 a day.
Calgary Tribune: Three "vags" who have been begging upon the streets the past few days, and who were run in, were found to have in their pockets $100, $60, and $50 respectively.

Le Monde, referring to the rumor that the successor to Archbishop Tache will be an Irishman, says it cannot believe that the ecclesiastical authorities will allow an episcopal see belonging to French-Canadians to pass into the hands of strangers.

Battleford Herald: The Indian department recently lost four Polled Angus bulls out of a car load taken to Duck Lake for distribution on the Saskatchewan. Mr. Creamer, V. S., of Regina, was called upon to examine the herd, but his report has not been made public. Four of this band that were sent to Red Phasant's reserve have been placed in quarantine.

Is the house of commons on July 4th, on motion to go into committee of supply. Mulock brought up the question as to what led to the scheduling of Canadian cattle in Great Britain. He traced the history of the question from the beginning, referring to the fact that Canada had, many years ago, proposed stringent regulations if her cattle were exempted from the scheduling to which United States cattle were in 1878 subjected. The obligations entered into by Canada had not been observed and because the stringency of these regulations had been relaxed by the government of Canada, our cattle had been scheduled.

Battleford Herald: The steamer Nor-west arrived here at an early hour on Monday morning, and on unloading what freight was on board went up stream to pick up her catches on the river. After getting along the gravel bar near Pitt she got along all right until Pine Island was reached, when she grounded again and had to unload the oats before she floated over. At Breasay settlement the water again failed them and they had to build a stage on the sand bar and put off a hundred tons of coal; with what was left she reached Battleford as stated. Picking up her scattered cargo she once more headed down the river, arriving here at an early hour on Wednesday morning. Having discharged her cargo and taken on the passengers and freight from this point she once more headed down stream; and it is to be hoped she left her bad luck behind. The peculiarities of the river have this year been such as were never seen in the June rise by the oldest steamboat hands. Usually when the first flood comes the bars form from shore to shore, and as the water recedes it cuts narrow channels, through which rafts and steamers can safely pass; but this year the water subsided so quickly that these channels were not formed, and hence the trouble of the trip. The boat will go to Grand Rapids, where a load of up-river freight is awaiting her, and if the stage of water permit, make a second trip to Edmonton, taking up flour and general merchandise for Hudson's Bay posts along the route and bringing more coal for Battleford.
